

3 things to tell your friends about Thyroid Cancer

1. Why you're helping raise awareness.

Are you a thyroid cancer survivor? How was your thyroid cancer discovered? How are you doing now? Are you a friend or caregiver of someone with thyroid cancer?

2. How Neck Checks are a key to early detection, when thyroid cancer is usually treatable.

Thyroid cancer is the fastest increasing cancer in incidence. It affects people of all ages, from young children to seniors. Even when treatable, thyroid cancer is life-disrupting, expensive, and stressful both for patients and for loved ones. Early detection is important, because some thyroid cancers are aggressive and difficult to treat.

3. Where to get free information and support, anywhere in the world.

Free information packets, support groups, 1-to-1 support matched by type of thyroid cancer, webinars, the latest news and knowledge about thyroid cancer, and events throughout the year. These and more are available free of charge from ThyCa: Thyroid Cancer Survivors' Association, Inc. at www.thyca.org.
